

INSTRUCTIONS TO AUTHORS

Uploaded October 2016

Journal Psychosocial Intervention is the publication entity for scientific expression of the Official College of Psychologists of Madrid (www.elsevier.es/psi)

The Journal Psychosocial Intervention is an open-access journal with 3 regular issues. All articles are immediately and permanently accessible to facilitate their reading and download.

All original contributions will be evaluated anonymously (double blind) by external expert reviewers designated by the Editor.

The authors of the articles submitted to the journal do not make economic contributions neither for sending articles to the journal or for their publication, in which case the authors cede the article's copyright (transfer of copyright in these rules) but reserve their personal rights <https://www.elsevier.com/about/company-reported/policies/copyright>.

The use by readers is regulated by the Creative Commons license: Attribution-Noncommercial-No Derivative Works (CC-BY-NC-ND). This license allows the reader to read, print, download and translate the article for exclusively personal use and/or share it with a third party, provided credit is given to the author, the version of the article is not modified and none of the uses of that article are for commercial (profit) motives.

In the event that the author, due to the policies of the institution to which they belong, requires a CC-BY license after the article has been accepted, they must contact Elsevier by e-mail: psi@elsevier.com

Submission Guidelines

- Submit manuscripts to: www.eviser.com/eviser/jrnl/PSI
- The Journal has a policy of anonymous external review. Manuscripts should not contain clues to the authors' identity.
- Submissions are prescreened for suitability. Papers should comply with manuscript preparation guidelines, and fall within the scope of the Journal.
- Articles are accepted on the understanding that they contributed solely to this Journal.
- Obtaining permission to reproduce copyrighted material is the authors' responsibility.
- Authors must sign a copyright agreement prior to publication.
- Inquiries? Contact the Editor at: psi@elsevier.com

Manuscript Preparation

- The Journal follows the guidelines of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th Edition. Authors must also verify compliance with APA ethical standards, and guidelines for reporting research results. Authors are also responsible for disclosing potential conflicts of interest.
- Manuscripts should be prepared using Microsoft Word, 12 point Times New Roman font, and one-inch margins (2.5 cm.).
- All parts of the manuscript, including abstract, text, headings, references and tables should be typed doubled-spaced.
- Authors should include a short title their name, affiliation, mailing address, and email address, on a separate title page.
- Each manuscript should include an abstract of no more than 200 words, and 3-5 keywords.
- Tables and figures should be numbered, and their location should be indicated in the text. They should appear together at the end of the file in separate pages. Tables and figures should be kept to a minimum. References should also follow APA style.
- Articles should not include footnotes. A brief note with acknowledgments may be placed at the bottom of the title page.
- Authors will receive proofs of their articles and will be asked to send their corrections within 72 hours of receipt. Authors will receive a complimentary copy of the Journal and access to a pdf of their article after publication.
- Psychosocial Intervention will provide a Spanish translation (available online) of papers originally written in English.

With this initiative, readers with limited English proficiency will have access to original research published in English, and authors writing in English will reach a wider audience.

Once the article has been accepted, the corresponding author will receive a link to the online version for signature for the transfer of copyright to [Official College of Psychologists of Madrid], with the power to transfer the rights to third parties, as well as the signing of the Creative Commons license: Recognition – Noncommercial – No derivative works (CC-BY-NC-ND: <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/4.0/>), which regulates the use by readers.

Authors who have received funding from the US National Institutes of Health or who belong to the Howard Hughes Medical Institute must agree to signing an exclusive license for the publication and distribution of their article, which will be made available online and subject to the conditions of use signed for in the Creative Commons license. If this is the case for you, you must contact the following email address; revista_copm@cop.es
